Loading Instructions

IBM PC:

1. Start up your computer with DOS 2.0 or higher.
2. Insert Test Drive disk in drive A.
3. Type "TD" and press ENTER.

After a short disk load, you will be prompted to select the type of graphics adapter your system is equipped with. Press the corresponding key to your graphics adapter.

HARD DISK INSTALLATION

TEST DRIVE may be installed onto a hard drive by following the instructions below.

Installation

1. Insert your TEST DRIVE disk 1 into drive A. Make sure the default drive is A.
2. Type HINSTALL, press RETURN. This will start the hard disk installation procedure. Press CNTRL-C to abort the process. All the necessary files will be copied over to your hard drive C. You do not need to make a directory as one called TD will be created. You will only be able to perform this procedure on one hard drive.

Loading

1. Type C:, press RETURN.
2. Type CD TD, press RETURN.
3. Type TD, press RETURN. TEST DRIVE will load normally and there is no need for the original disk to be in drive A.

Removal

1. You may remove TEST DRIVE from your hard drive by inserting your original disk in drive A and typing HDINST/U, press RETURN.
2. The files in the TD directory may then be deleted using the standard DOS command ERASE. Refer to your DOS manual for a complete explanation.

The Game

Your lifelong quest has been to drive one of the world's most exotic sports cars. Now's your chance. You just made your first million going public with your software company.

You eagerly drive down to the local dealership. The salesman smells money and offers to let you take out whatever is in their lot for a TEST DRIVE.

You look around; suddenly your jaw is down to your knees. You see five cars. Your heart skips a beat. You loosen your collar and gasp for some air. "Which one?", you scream to yourself.

Selecting Your Test Drive Car

After the game loads select the input device CNTRL (J)oystick or CNTRL (K)eypad. Use the joystick or arrow keys to cycle through the title screen. You can use the joystick up/down or ↑ ↓ keys to view all five cars. Pressing the firebutton/return key will select the car you wish to drive.

Driving

You slide in the key. Give it ever so lightly a twist. Vrooommm! The car roars to life. You nervously put it in gear and slowly let out the clutch. You start out up "The Rock," a long stretch of mountainous road, ideal to put the car through its paces, for the ride of your life.

Driving is no simple task. Potholes, Sunday drivers and water slicks will impede your speed or cause you unfortunate mishaps. Oh, and don't forget about those "Smokies" just waiting for some show-off like you to pass through their "Radar" trap.

Be Cautious, as you will only have five chances to reach the "Top of the Rock." If you have a mishap, press the fire button to proceed.

On The Road

In the upper left portion of the windshield, attached to the sun visor, you will see a radar detector. It works and you will need it to avoid that unpleasant feeling of seeing the "red lights" flashing in your rear view mirror. When you approach a "radar trap," your trusty radar detector will alert you with "BEEP" sounds and flashing red LEDs. The point at which all the LEDs are lit is when your speed has actually been clocked by the Highway Patrol radar gun. If you are unfortunate in this respect, you must slow down and obey the Highway Patrolman. If you don't, you might be able to shake him or he will pull in front of you and force you to stop. Be careful, because if you try to pass him, you will rear end him. Highway Patrolmen don't appreciate people damaging their patrol cars much, especially people who drive "fancy cars." Therefore, you will go directly to jail. DO NOT PASS GO. Game over, Bud!
